

If you would look at how the Telecommunications Act of 1996 has impacted radio, you would not think twice about this. You would think three, four, five, more times and realize it is just as bad of an idea as that was.